

Spirgrips

What once was old is new again, right? Years after riser bars essentially wiped bar ends off the map, some riders now miss having multiple hand positions. Like the TOGS we showed you a few months ago, SpirGrips mount inboard of the grips and give your thumbs something to wrap around for more of a 'cruising' position.

Unlike the simpler TOGS, which are moulded from Zytel plastic, SpirGrip are made of aluminium with a much more substantial and ergonomic shape, plus a conveniently hinged clamp for easy installation. We've only just started playing with these but they're undoubtedly comfortable – albeit also somewhat heavy and disappointingly expensive. Actual weight is 115g per pair.
